Protect the future you're building

There's no day like today to protect what matters most with life insurance

Three signs you need life insurance (today)

1

People depend on you

You're irreplaceable. But if you pass away, a life insurance policy ensures your loved ones receive a payout to support themselves during a difficult time. They can use the money for groceries, rent, and any other expenses you know they'd need.

2

You just did something big

If you recently opened a business, grew your family, bought a house, or got hitched... congrats! All the more reason to get life insurance and protect those close to you.

3

You want to save money

While you may age like a fine wine, life insurance rates don't—they get more expensive every year. Lock in your price now to avoid overpaying later.

Your questions, answered.

Is life insurance affordable?

Your price will vary, but most people overestimate the cost of coverage by more than 300%. It's worth getting a free quote to see your estimate.†

Is life insurance through work enough?

It's a good start! Experts say your coverage should be worth 10x your annual income. Most employer plans cover about 1x your salary. Consider getting an additional policy to make sure you have enough.

What if I don't work?

Even if you're not a breadwinner, you would have to make up for financially. The costs of replacing childcare and running the household can add up fast—life insurance helps ease the burden.
